

My News

Today's Paper

Local

QLD

National

World

Opinion

Business

Entertainment

Lifestyle

Sport

News Queensland Mackay

WHS prosecutors push to reignite charges over Brad Duxbury mine death case

Workplace Health and Safety is pushing to reignite charges stemming from a death at an underground mine after a "calamitous" prosecution.

Janessa Ekert

Follow

@JanessaEkert 2 min read January 9, 2023 - 12:02PM

Brad Duxbury died in the Carborough Downs mine in November 2019.

Mackay

Don't miss out on the headlines from Mackay. Followed categories will be added to My News.

Workplace Health and Safety is pushing to reignite charges stemming from a death at a Coppabella underground mine after they were struck out because a “calamitous” prosecution resulted in the cases being listed in the wrong court.

On November 25, 2019 Ipswich grandfather Brad Duxbury, 57, was crushed to death while repairing machinery at Carborough Downs mine after defective equipment failed to stop falling coal.

Carborough Downs Mine Management, and Jeremy David Futeran and Russell Clive Uhr, who each held the position of site senior executive at the mine in the months leading up to the tragedy, were charged with failing to discharge health and safety obligations causing death.

Brad Duxbury was killed at Carborough Downs mine site on November 25, 2019.

However the WHS prosecutor who signed off on the charges had listed the matters in the magistrates court, which had no jurisdiction to hear them, rather than the industrial magistrates court and as a result in 2022 Acting Magistrate Athol Kennedy struck out all complaints.

A recent court judgment revealed Mr Kennedy also struck out charges – filed by the same prosecutor – over the serious injury of a contractor at the same mine three months before Mr Duxbury’s death.

Industrial Court of Queensland president Justice Peter Davis said given parliament had established a specialist office for workplace health and safety prosecutions it was “disappointing” the matters had not been before the correct court.

WHS is now pushing to have Mr Kennedy’s strike out orders in relation to Carborough Downs, Mr Futeran and Mr Uhr quashed and for matters to be referred to the industrial magistrates court to be dealt with.

Carborough Downs mine is at Coppabella, west of Mackay.

Carborough Downs, Mr Uhr and Mr Futeran each attempted to fight back against the application for “prerogative relief”, which was filed in November 2022 six days after the cut-off date, arguing the delay was significant and “pointed to prejudice”.

Mr Futeran, who left his role two months before Mr Duxbury’s death, also submitted the charge against him “as particularised showed no case against him”.

He has alleged he has not been able to secure an interview for employment opportunities because “he is being shunned because he has been charged with an offence arising from the death of Mr Duxbury” and was at the moment “effectively unemployable in Australia”, the judgment read.

Mr Uhr, who was still employed with Carborough, has alleged the company “will not consider him for (upper managerial roles) while the prosecution is on foot” and his current job did not “give access to performance scheme bonuses”.

WHS is pushing to reignite charges over Brad Duxbury's death after they were struck out.

“The prosecution of the three respondents has been calamitous,” Justice Davis said, adding that “various errors” had been made from the very start.

“Over two years from the swearing of the complaint and over three years from the date of the Duxbury incident, the prosecution has not progressed at all.

“The errors have contributed to significant delays which have caused Mr Futeran significant prejudice.”

Justice Davis found the particulars of the charge against Mr Futeran over Mr Duxbury's death appeared to be a "cut and paste" of that against Carborough Downs and "reflect no thought at all" to the fact he had left the role two months before the tragedy.

He determined continued prosecution in relation to Mr Duxbury's death "is oppressive" and refused the application.

However WHS may still be able to pursue matters against Carborough Downs and Mr Uhr as Justice Davis found there was "an arguable case for prerogative relief".

More Coverage

'All they want is answers': Shock decision in Qld mine death case

PLEASE EXPLAIN: Shock move in Qld mine death case

Daily Mercury Newsletter

Hi Mark, get the latest local news from Mackay and Queensland delivered to your inbox.

Sign up

More related stories

Whitsunday

Psychologist calls code red as regional mental health crisis worsens

As Queensland regions struggle with a rampant mental health crisis made worse by a lack of services, a Whitsundays psychologist has called on the government to stop a mass exodus of staff.

Business

Revealed: 1000-spot car park, servo greenlit for Peak Downs Hwy

Anger over miners using the streets as their car park while they're at work could soon be over with plans approved for a new service station with secure parking for 1000 cars.

My News Feed

Read More >

EXCLUSIVE Music

'She is like the Queen': Aussie DJ's surprise collab with Mariah Carey

Music

Music icon Gudinski's wild life revealed

News

Disneyland at Melbourne's Fishermans Bend?

Good Morning Mark Recommended based on what you've read

EXCLUSIVE Police & Courts

Alleged childcare rapist's identity exposed by stunning jail move

UPDATED SuperCoach

Late Mail: Injury causes Dragons backline reshuffle

Lifestyle

Qld's new wedding hot spot stealing Byron Bay's thunder

Promoted Content

Why netball is the ultimate team sport

Trending now

Emergency Services

'Lost her entire family': Hero dad dies trying to save sons in island inferno

World Cup

Live 'Sick joke': USA stars sob over penalty shootout

QLD Politics

Parking turf war out of control as minister weighs his options

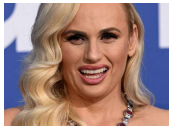

QLD Politics

Read More

Celebrity Kids

Rebel Wilson rushed to hospital after stunt goes wrong

Lifestyle

5 things you should always do before drinking your morning coffee

Netball

World champs: Diamonds destroy England to clinch 12th title

Life support: Dirty little secret of Queensland's failing businesses

Lifestyle

20 best new hotels you need to know about

Opinion

Credlin: Proof that Albo is lying to you about the Voice

Property

Unreality TV: Reality stars slammed for housing advice

Membership

Subscription packages
Group/Corporate subscriptions
The Courier Mail app
Today's Paper
Newsletters
Rewards

About Us

About us
Meet the team
Job opportunities
Code of conduct
Subscription FAQs
Subscription terms
Financial Hardship Policy

Contact Us

Help & support
FAQs
Letter to the Editor
Photo Print Sales
Licensing & Reprints
Advertise with us

Our News Network

Herald Sun
The Daily Telegraph
The Advertiser
news.com.au
The Australian
The Mercury
Geelong Advertiser
The Cairns Post
Gold Coast Bulletin
Townsville Bulletin
The Chronicle
NT News
The Weekly Times
CODE Sports

Our Partners

Buy Search Sell Classifieds
Find Your Local Foxsports
Foxtel
Hipages
Kayo
My Tributes
odds.com.au
Punters
racenet.com.au
realestate.com.au
Sky News
Coupons

Our Apps

A NOTE ABOUT RELEVANT ADVERTISING: We collect information about the content (including ads) you use across this site and use it to make both advertising and content more relevant to you on our network and other sites. Find out more about our policy and your choices, including how to opt-out. Sometimes our articles will try to help you find the right product at the right price. We may receive payment from third parties for publishing this content or when you make a purchase through the links on our sites.

Nationwide News Pty Ltd © 2023. All times AEST (GMT +10). Powered by WordPress.com VIP

Privacy policy Relevant ads opt-out Cookie policy Terms of use